Nurse Educator Competencies: Creating An Evidence-Based Practice For Nurse Educators

Synopsis

Nurse Educator Competencies: Creating An Evidence-Based Practice For Nurse Educators is a compelling critical synthesis of the research related to educator competencies. Drawing on literature in nursing and many other fields, the authors present an analysis of the work done to date regarding each competency (e.g., facilitate learning, use assessment and evaluation strategies), draws conclusions about what we do and do not know related to that area of practice, and proposes priorities for future research related to that competency. This book grew out of the intensive work of the NLNâ€™s Task Group on Nurse Educator Competencies and is an essential resource for every faculty member and an invaluable source of information and insight for students in masterâ€™s or doctoral teacher preparation programs.

Okay but a little hard to understand.

Hands down, this is a must-get text for every nursing educator or Nurses interested in Education. The text outlines every area well, is written well.

Priced just right

Needed the book for school. Pretty interesting for nurse educator MSN students. Would recommend to others in a program or current Nursing instructors.

Terrible book. The content is very basic for what it takes to function as an Educator. An example of some of the content includes the explanation that it is helpful to be knowledgeable about the content you are teaching. Duh. I skimmed a few chapters and I will not be picking this book up again, except maybe to throw it in the trash. I do not usually come back to post reviews but hope to save someone else from wasting their money.

This was supposed to be new, but had writing in it. Since I paid 50 dollars for it, I figured it was new.

New book, so there is nothing bad to say about it.

I received the book in one week, very earlier than the expected date. The book looks excellent. Thank you!
